

THE ART OF NOTICING

Curiosity, intuition and creating space for stories that deserve to be seen.

by Monica Bodway

As a child, I looked at the world through the smallest of openings.

Today... I still do.

I've always been curious.

About nature.

About people.

About the stories waiting beneath the surface.

I discovered the closer I looked, the more there was to see.

Curiosity

became the way I make art.

TRUST

Every painting begins the same

I stop trying to know where it's going.

I trust my intuition.

I let the colors...

the tools....

the unexpected marks... lead

I paint until something inside me says,

“that’s enough.”

Then....

I step back.

LOOK

The painting knows something I don't.

I spend time with it.

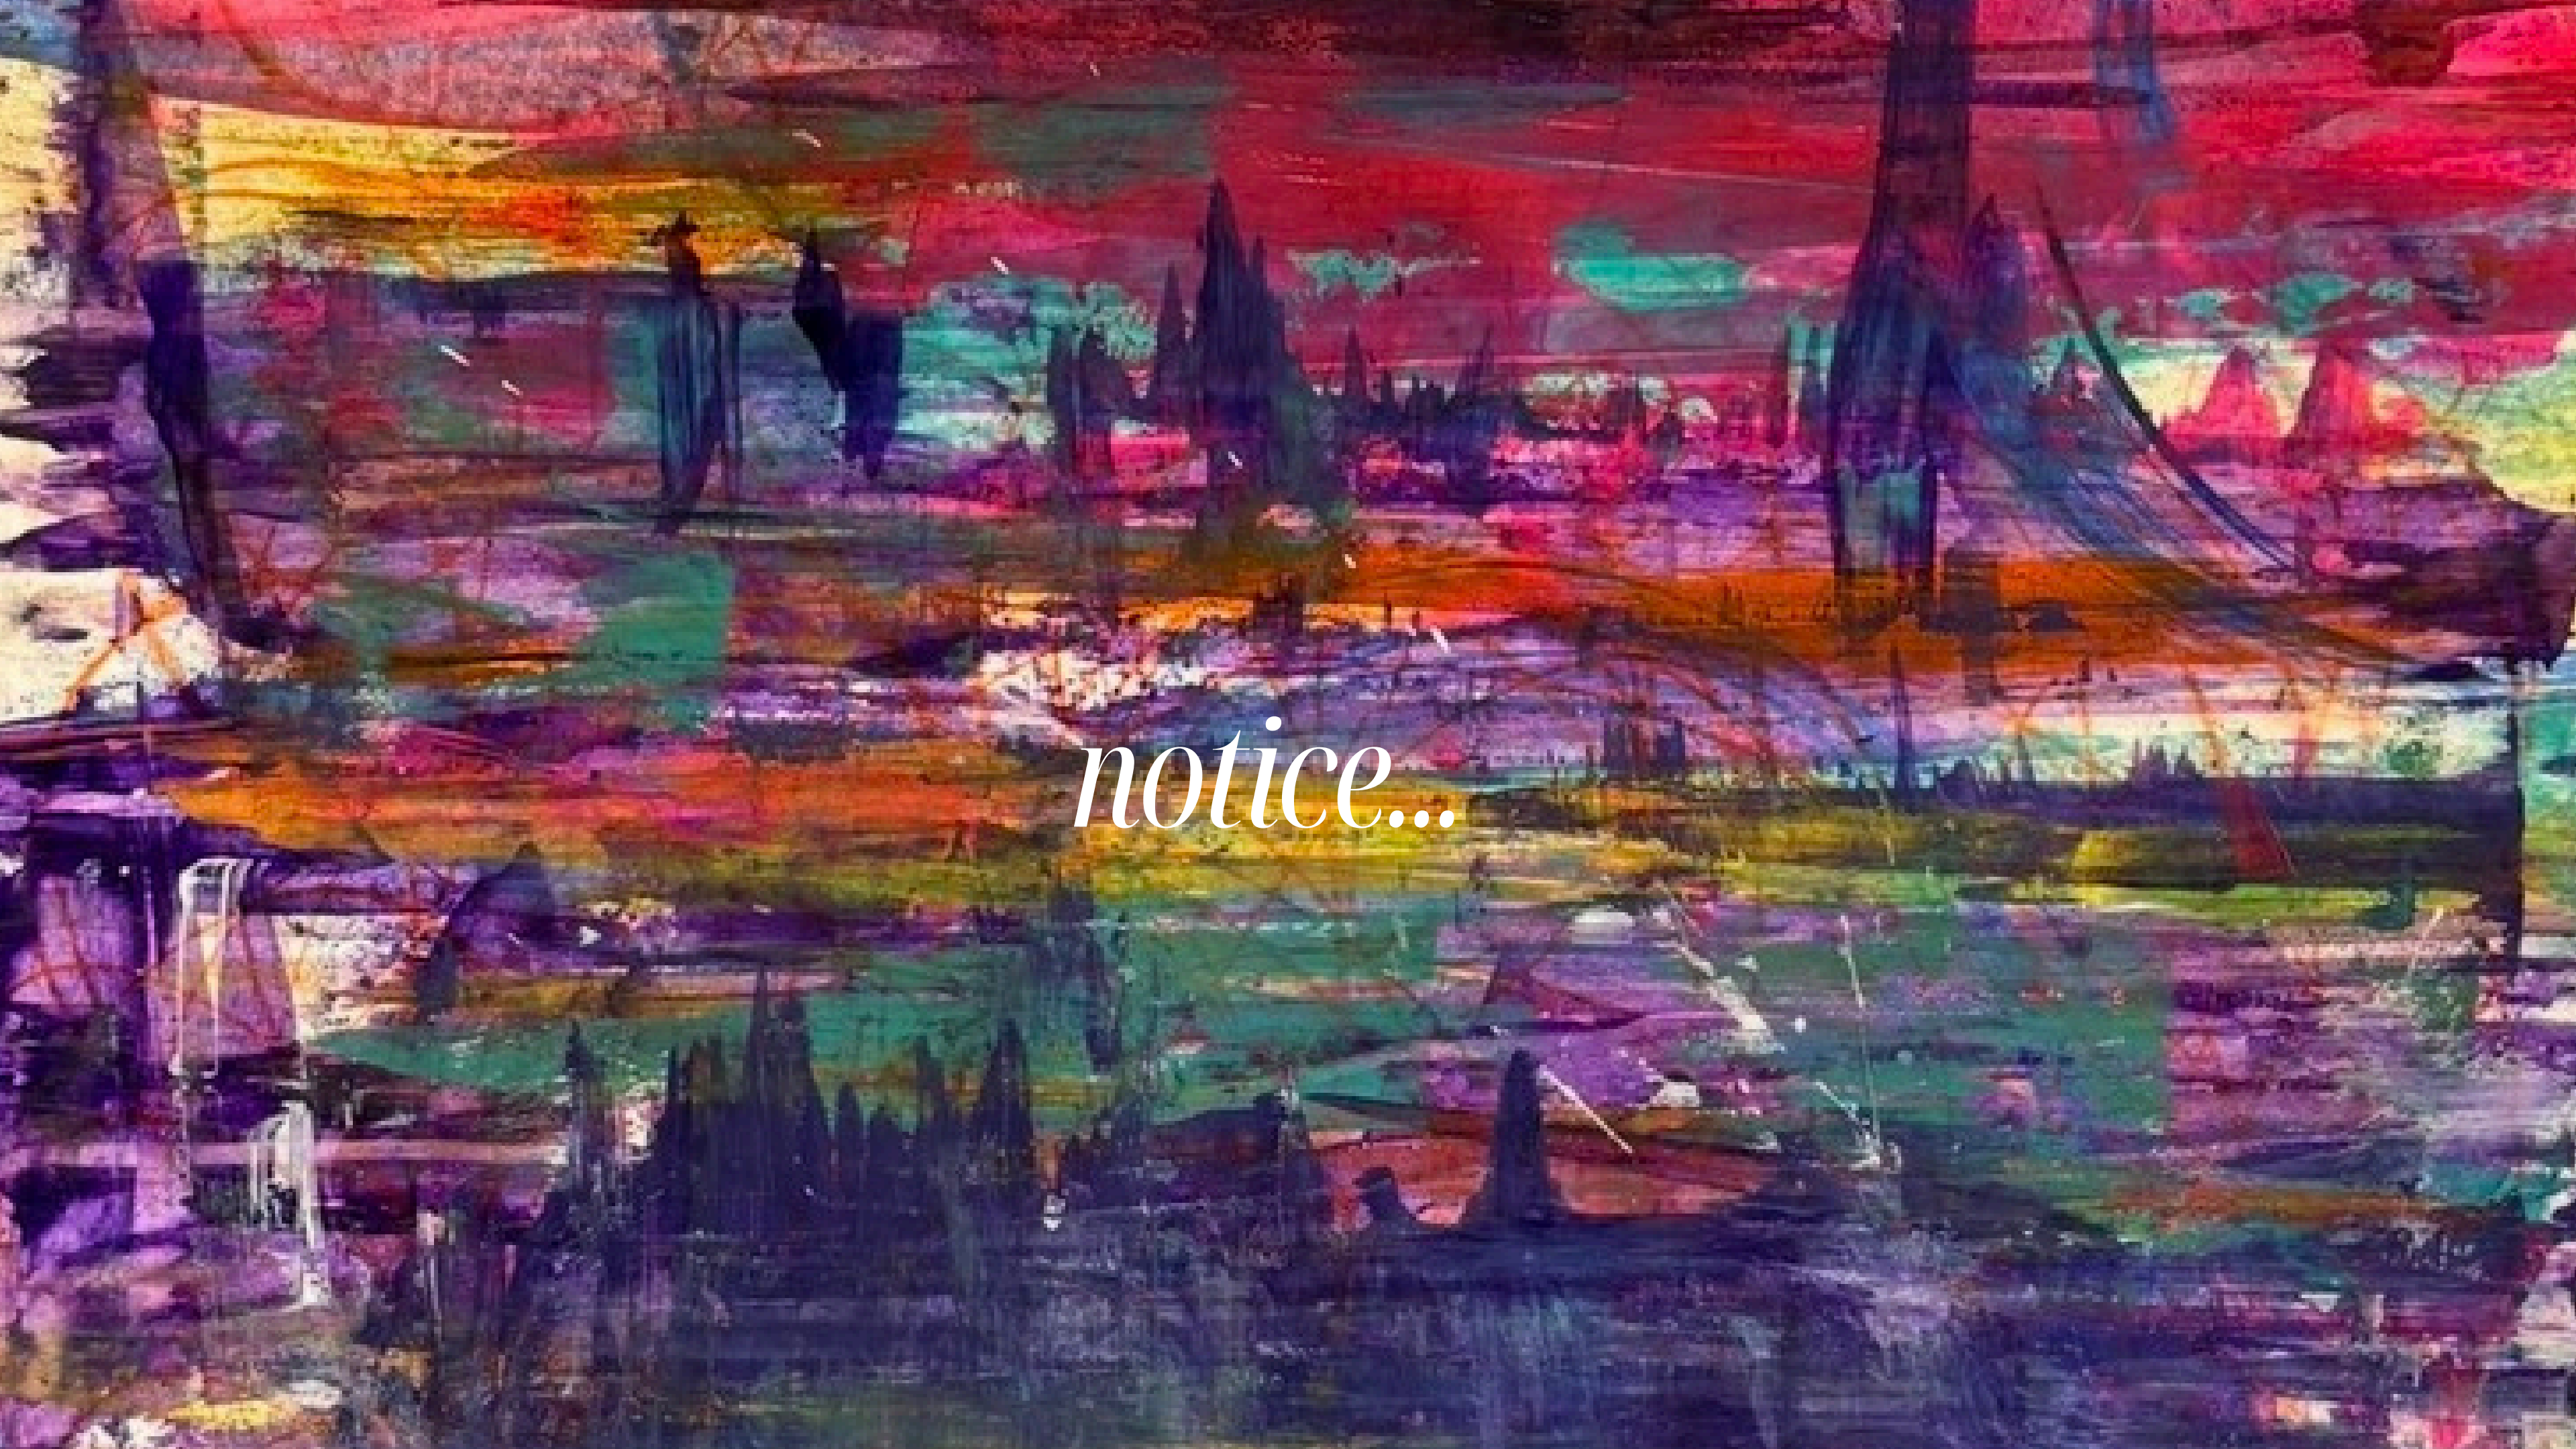

Looking.

Listening.

Waiting.

Until something catches my eye.

notice...

UNCOVER

I make the cut and frame what I've found.

SHARE

Following my own curiosity let me to create

Moods Art Studio & Gallery in 2023

What began as a place for my own creative exploration evolved into a place where women share their work, their stories, and meaningful conversations with others.

IGNITE

Somewhere along the way, I realized I love noticing possibility in women too.

An idea. A curiosity. A little “what if?”

Through Moods exhibitions, I invite women to follow that spark, create something meaningful and share it with others.

Sometimes all it takes is someone to say:

Yes, Let's see where that goes.

COLLABORATE

I'm interested in what can happen when artists, thoughtful ideas and the right people come together.

I welcome conversations about:

Exhibitions

Arist talks and interviews

Solo shows

Creative partnerships

Press and community collaborations

Let's create something meaningful together.
